

II. The development gap and its consequences on a global scale

KQ° : What is the development gap for geographers ?

A. The Brandt line: a no longer accurate fictive line

1. Introduce the document
2. Describe the distribution of higher income countries.
3. Describe the distribution of lowest income countries.

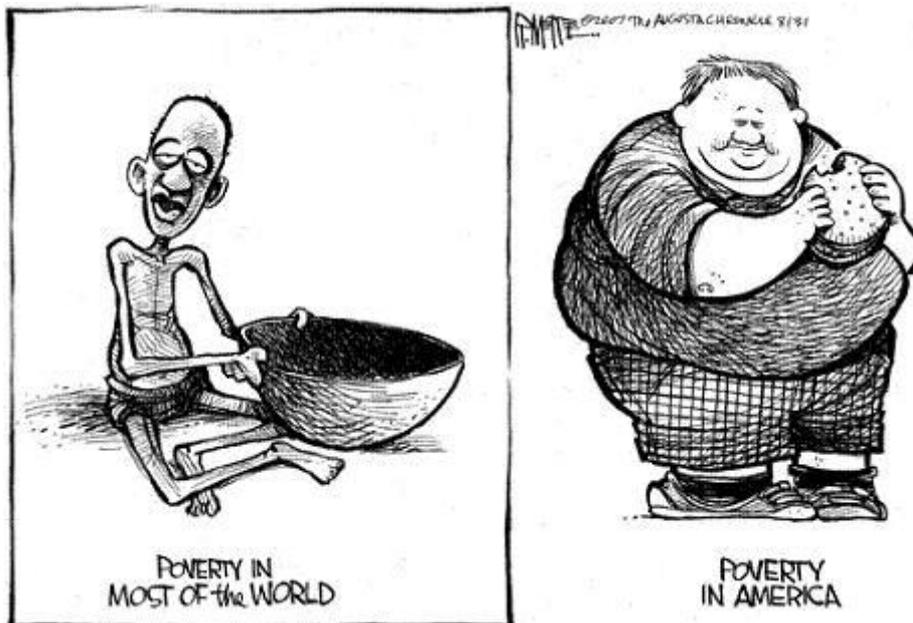

Complete the summary below with the following words:

Southern / Willy Brandt/ headlines/ line/ MEDCs/ relevant / northern /poorer/ Less Economically Developed/ loops/

Public awareness of the development gap is not new. It was first brought into the newsin the Brandt Report in 1980. This report, by....., a German politician, drew aon the map that separated the richer countries from theones. This map was developed to separate the More Economically Developed Countries (.....) from theCountries (LEDCs).

The MEDCs are situated mainly in thehemisphere. The LEDCs are mainly in the tropics andhemisphere. The line around Australia and New Zealand to include them in the richer half of the map. This famous map draws attention between the richer North and the poorer South and is still in use today. Bu is it still or accurate?

4. Discuss the cartoon and prepare a speech to the class on:
- Each character: how they are dressed and what they are doing.
 - Who do the two figures represent?

B. Bread & Roses : A fiction on the development gap by Ken Loach